New Orleans

We came here two days after the close of the Mardi Gras because we did not wish to be here under such conditions. It is said that a million people took part in the big Carnival here. Many celebrities are here and since the weather is very foul no planes can go out to-day. Last night as we stopped for a brief rest at Eunice we read the headlines and we feel the blizzard will strike here by dawn. Freezing temperatures are seldom experienced here and the north is another 24 hours away. It was 81 degrees here early to-day. One enjoys a top coat around 40 degrees here because of the dampness.

Movie stars are everywhere but most of them emerge from their hotel suites in the evening. John Garfield is here for a preview and a guest at the Roosevelt, so is Frank Sinatra. I would relish a duet by Gabby Street and the crooner, Rod Cameron came on from Houston and Gracie Allen has been here for some time trying to buy George some underwear. We almost bumped into John Carroll and his blond wife in the lobby of the hotel. Carroll is a native of New Orleans and spends a great deal of time here. He has a very nice home located out on Lake Pontchartrain. One of the show places in New Orleans' fabulous residential districts is the home of the late Marguerite Clark, stage and screen star of a decade or more ago. Miss Clark was happily married to a lumber king and lived with him 20 years. She died in New York in the lonesome latter years of a brilliant stage career.

Dorothy Dix who has meant more to the lovers and the millions of storm tossed domestic voyagers than any other figure in modern times, is a native of New Orleans. Her home just off millionaire's row and a scant block from Tulane University is a quaint old yellow mansion. Dorothy began her career as a cub reporter on the old New Orleans Item. But more about the interesting places later.

New Orleans has an average rainfall of around 70 inches. The city is 5 feet below sea level and about 2 feet below the level of the great Mississippi. Water is pumped out of the city and flushed through drainage canals into Lake Pontchartrain. At the cost of millions the city has long since solved the drainage problem. Giant pumping stations are located throughout the city, otherwise water would flood the entire city within a few minutes after one of the customary torrential rains.

In the more than 100 years the great levees have hemmed in the waters of the Mississippi they have held and except for an occasional sand burst when water reaches the surface beyond the levees there has been no threat of flood. Engineers have cured this threat also. Flood gates are easily opened to divert waters into Pontchartrain. The levees stretch for more than a thousand miles up stream. The river at this time of year is low but its depth is around 150 feet in the harbor space along the crescent. When tides come on the Ohio, the Missouri and the Tennessee and the Illinois, the old river that now looks so placid becomes a menace to vast sections of midwestern United States.

New Orleans has no new, modern hotels and no skyscrapers. The Roosevelt Hotel was built 47 years ago and named for the late Theodore Roosevelt. The annex was built in 1925. The St. Charles, perhaps the most famous of the hotels is one of the finest in the world but small as compared to the Rice in Houston with 1200 rooms. One sees no new construction here in the mercantile areas.

The people of New Orleans have had the good sense to preserve their historic landmarks from the fabulous old homes to the one story shacks along the streets of the old French quarter. Either the state or the city buys a building, if historic enough, and the owner does not tear it down. New Orleans has one of the world's greatest newspapers, the Times-Picayune. It is conservative and never indulges big type. Currently the old paper is engaged in a fight along with its afternoon States (turn to page six)

Taxes Cost Family In Texas $200 More Than Food In 1947

AUSTIN, March 22—Taxes last year cost the average Texas family $200 more than their food, the Texas Research Institute reported today. The institute, sponsored by the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, said that Texans paid $1,586,964,414 in taxes last year to Federal, State and local governments. Their food bill for the year was $1,248,241,000. "Assuming," the institute said, "that the average family consists of 4.3 persons, the family tax bill in Texas in 1947 was $974.26, while the grocery bill amounted to $766.79."

Steel Indian Spike Found Near Sharp

Durwood Bailes of Sharp was in Cameron Thursday and brought along a steel arrow point used by the Indians.

So far as known this is the only steel point ever found in Milam County. It was picked up on the Henderson farm near the Bryant Station bridge over Little River.

Mr. Bailes has given the point to his son who is a collector and has some 300 specimens.

J. B. White, publisher has only one steel point in his entire collection of some 40 thousand specimens. This point came from West Texas. Indians used the steel points in warfare in the early seventies.

Strange Specimen of Cactaceous Growth On Display At Herald

A grotesque growth of cactaceous nature is on display at the Herald plant, brought in Thursday by L. W. Smith of the Community Public Service Company.

Mr. Smith was in Texas city with R. W. Hester, engineer for the Company and on his way back obtained the specimen at Sealy, Texas.

The plant is definitely of vegetative origin and resembles a desert growth and may have originated in a semi-arid climate, brought down by waters from the Brazos or tributaries.

Whether native of the area where found is not now known. It was found several years ago in the Brazos river by L. E. Kurtz with the Community Public Service Company in Sealy, at the point of old Felipe Township east of Sealy and in what is now the Stephen F. Austin State Park.

Cameron Guardsmen Have the New Look; Get New Uniforms

Cameron's National Guard unit, Battery C, 239th Field Artillery Battalion, acquired "the new look" this week. Definitely.

That was quite apparent on last Tuesday evening during the drill period when members of the battery assembled wearing their recently issued new uniforms for the first time.

Clarence Hanel was selected as this week's winner in the contest Battery C is holding to choose the Guardsman making the neatest appearance each drill period. Captain Michalka said today.

It was, however, a close decision. At least a half dozen other enlisted men of the battery made almost as good an appearance. But Hanel had a little extra of "the new look" and emerged the winner.

JAMES M. PRATT DIED IN ROCKDALE THURSDAY

(From the Daily)

James M. Pratt, 92, pioneer resident of Milam County, died at his home in Rockdale Thursday night, March 18.

Mr. Pratt had been a resident of Milam county for more than 80 years and was one of the oldest of the pioneers.

Funeral services will be held in Rockdale at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, March 20 from the Phillips & Luckey Funeral Home. Interment will be made in the Sandy Creek Cemetery.

Mr. Pratt was the grandfather of Marvin Pratt now with the Cameron Herald.

GIDDINGS IS SITE FOR MEETING APRIL 2ND

The Texas Railroad Commission has scheduled a third hearing on the application of the Texas & New Orleans Railroad to discontinue passenger service over their line from Waco to Yoakum.

This time the hearing will be held in Giddings on Friday, April 2 beginning at 10 a. m. at a place to be provided by the Chamber of Commerce there.

The Daily Herald received a communication Wednesday from the Railroad Commission signed by all members, resetting the hearing.

It is disclosed that on March 15 at the Commission offices in Austin that the case was—only partially heard.

Legal counsel has been retained by the people over the line. The railroad company wants to discontinue passenger train service because people no longer ride the train. Protests came largely over the fact that if the service is stopped baggage and express service will go also.

ONLY $627 SHORT OF AMOUNT IN CAMERON

Woodrow Lowe, director of the 1948 Red Cross collection in Milam County, said shortly before noon Wednesday that the goal of $2200 for the city of Cameron was near.

Only $627 remained to be raised and some of this is in sight with committees making a final canvass today.

Cash in the bank on the 1948 quota was $1572 Wednesday. The drive date was extended as workers found it impossible to devote time necessary within the allotted dates.

Mr. Lowe said that the county was well up and that it would compare favorably with other counties.

W. W. MARKHAM ASKS ANOTHER TERM HERE

W. W. (Doc) Markham, Commissioner for Precinct No. 2, Milam County, is a candidate for re-election and will seek the nomination in the Primary to be held on Saturday, July 24.

Mr. Markham is asking for a second term and friends throughout the district will receive the news with gratification for he has made a splendid record, they point out.

In the limited time Mr. Markham has held this office, he has been able to accomplish much, including modernization of the machinery and the purchase of new equipment and in the coming term he can be of better service of the people of the district.

Mr. Markham realizes that roads are the most important demand of the post war period and has co-operated in every way possible to bring about better rural roads. His district is large and he has kept the roads in good state of repair and improved them despite unfavorable weather conditions. His district has more good roads than most such precincts in the state.

When he was elected two years ago he promised the people that he would serve every portion of the District and this he has done and well, his friends point out.

Based upon the belief that he can render an even better service in his second term Mr. Markham makes his formal announcement for re-election and will greatly appreciate the vote and support of the people.

Mr. Markham believes that it is the duty of a commissioner to stick to his job and he has done so. The business of the court is important and there are many responsibilities to the county as a whole. In discharging his duties Mr. Markham has tried at all times to apply business methods to the county's business.

Miss Rosa Kemp Adams and sister, Mrs. George Byrom of Houston spent the week end here with their brother, Demmie Kemp in the "Kemp Home", and were accompanied back to Houston Sunday afternoon by Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp. They will return to Cameron Thursday evening to spend Easter holidays in the Kemp Home.

CUT WOULD BE AID TO 52 MILLION PAYERS

WASHINGTON, March 23 —The House got set today to pass the $4,800,000,000 income tax cut bill along to President Truman tomorrow.

The Rules Committee decreed only one hour of debate before the vote. The committee took that course after some Democrats had served notice they would block an effort to rush the bill to President Truman today.

Speaker Martin, Republican of Massachusetts, predicted the House will approve the Senate's version of the bill by more than a 3-to-1 margin.

"The tax cut is certain," he said. He added that if the President vetoes the bill, as is widely expected, the veto will be overridden.

Chairman Leo Allen, Republican of Illinois, told the Rules Committee:

"I hope the President is as eager to sign this bill giving American taxpayers $4,800,000,000 as he is to sign the Marshall plan to give other nations $6,200,000,000."

BEACHHEAD IN ITALY WITHIN TWELVE HOURS

A strong force of U. S. Marines is ready to establish a "beachhead" on the Italian coast "in 12 hours or less" in event of an invasion of Italy by Fascist forces, according to General Patton and his staff.

Patton said the Marines are equipped with tanks and artillery and are stationed "somewhere in the Mediterranean."

As the Marines stand ready for action, Foreign Ministers of the Big Three—the United States, England and France—are discussing a treaty against Russia, the communist and Axis in the United States, he continued, steps are being taken to give more striking power to our fleet and air strike.

The steps include:

1. Orders for removal of a large number of ships from "mole balls" so that the results will be ready for immediate use.

2. Reopening of bomber plants in Washington and Kansas.

Large orders for aluminum and steel at expanded aircraft-building program will soon be under way, Patton said.

He said the Marines in the Mediterranean are equipped with sufficient firepower to hold any beachhead they gain.

Patton—did not probably—a popular mention of Italy because of Marshal Tito's anger over the American call for Russia to be returned to Italy, the communist said.

The invasion would knock off a major war—event if Russia were not ready for war, he stated. Patton said Russia's inability to always control the smaller nations in the Soviet Union today is one of the major threats to peace.

Commander James Doss can order the Marines into Italy without awaiting instructions from Washington, Patton stated.

He said a group of American airplanes and planes were in action to protect all interests there. (Whether the fleet and aircraft are military or private was not stated.)

Says Dogs Destroyed Without Due Notice And Writes Protest

Cameron, March 23

Dear Editor:

There was a one day notice in the papers stating that all dogs must be vaccinated or they would be killed. I am a dog owner and I am a real dog lover. I have a lot of good dogs without giving the dogs or their owners a chance, or very little chance to get their dogs vaccinated and the poor dogs have no way of fighting for their lives.

I can't see where there is any justice at all. Why can't the dogs be vaccinated and a notice put in the papers describing the dogs and thereby the owners would have a chance to do something about it. Maybe the owner is busy at his job or profession and has only one day in the week to attend to such things.

I am a very much against destroying the dogs and in such a hurry. I had a very nice Collie and the mother of 3 little pups just a month old, and somehow the mother disappeared. What other reason could there be for it except that someone too fast with his gun or maybe even poison, got rid of her. To me this is very unfair and unjust. I thought here in America, even a dog was given a chance or maybe it is only in Cameron.

What do you owners of pet dogs think? Am I right or wrong?

Four Are Landed In Federal Jail By Curious Cat

Escapes and Charges of Auto Thefts Make Up Big Day In This Town.

HAPEVILLE, GA. — An ex-G.I. with judo training, a curious cat, a sick judge, plus a posse of 76 men, landed two youths and two girls before a U. S. commissioner on national auto theft charges after the two men had escaped jail by overpowering a policeman.

The whole business left this peaceful little city on Atlanta's southern outskirts gasping with surprise and concluded only when the FBI rushed the four off for arraignment, where they were bound over for a federal grand jury.

The four were docketed as Billy James Manis, 20, of Hazard, Ky.; Joseph Burr Fine, 20, of Greenville, Ohio; Zelma Beasley, 18, and Gloria Bennett, 18, both of Jacksonville, Fla. The men were held in lieu of $7,500 bond each and the girls for $2,500 each.

How It Started.

It all began when Police Capt. J. P. Dunn noticed two cars laden with costly furs and coats and ordered the occupants held for investigation.

That afternoon Police Chief George Pierson Jr. called in the FBI. While being prepared for transfer to FBI custody, one of the prisoners seized a policeman's pistol, freed his companion and fled, leaving the girls behind.

The escapees ran toward the house occupied by Judge Quincy Arnold as police sounded a general alarm. The judge, in bed with the flu, rose to see what the commotion was about, then ducked as a bullet shattered a window and showered him with glass.

Next the judge rushed toward the front of the house where his wife was admonishing an armed man: "You can't shoot birds or squirrels in my yard."

The Judge Is In It.

The judge flushed a man from behind a tree. The man, later identified as Manis, ran out into the street and jumped on the running board of a car. The driver, Robert W. Bushby, a former G.I. with judo training, calmly disarmed him and turned him over to police.

Meanwhile, the posse had lost the second man, Fine. They began a search of the judge's yard.

Suddenly Mrs. Arnold exclaimed, "Look at Bessie—my cat!"

Bessie, a black tabby, was pointing like a bird dog at a mound of ivy—and Fine surrendered.

DEVELOPMENTS SO FAST NONE WILL PREDICT

WASHINGTON, March 21 — The conflict between Russia and the western powers under American leadership is now building up tensions so rapidly that responsible administration officials say they do not dare predict where the crisis will lead.

The situation is regarded by diplomatic authorities as so serious that it may cause Secretary of State Marshall to change his plans to attend the inter-American conference scheduled to open at Bogota, Columbia, March 30.

Marshall flew back to Washington late today from a visit to the west coast where he spoke twice before University of California audiences.

According to present plans, he must leave next week-end for a flying trip to Bogota in order to be present for the conference opening. It is probable that instead of settling down for the full six weeks that the conference is expected to last, Marshall will hold himself in readiness to come home at any time and conflict with Russia may require his personal attention.

Officials said that he would be extremely reluctant to cancel his Bogota plans; they predicted he would not do so unless there were extraordinary developments abroad.

The extent to which Marshall is personally directing foreign policy was illustrated last night in his statement in which he assumed responsibility for (1) Abandonment of the Palestine partition plan and (2) The proposal of the alternative method of seeking peace in the Holy Land under a United Nations trusteeship.

Marshall's statement brought out what officials here have been saying privately since the trusteeship proposal was put forward by the United States. This is: The intensity of conflict between America and Russia has made the United States very anxious to avoid all the trouble it can anywhere else in the world, including Palestine.

Midjet and 'Strong Man'

Forgive and Forget Spat

PITTSBURGH, PA. — Pussy De Carmo, 4-foot 1-inch midjet, and Sam Marlo, 185-pound circus and night club "strong man," have withdrawn their reciprocal charges of assault and battery.

De Carmo, 88-pound night club entertainer, told Ald. John Lardo that Sam beat him during an argument at the hotel where both live. Then Pussy withdrew his charges and Sam was ordered to pay the costs.

At the office of Ald. Leonard Civill, before whom Sam had filed charges of assault and battery against Pussy, the testimony was more descriptive.

"He jumped on a table, poked his cigar in my face and pulled off my suspenders," said Sam.

"He threw water on me," answered Pussy, pulling up his trouser leg to display some leg bruises. "He did that when he pushed me into the phone booth."

Ald. Civill asked Sam if Pussy's charge was correct.

"Yes, sir," admitted Sam. "I did it with one hand. I was holding up my pants with the other—remember when he broke my suspenders?"

At that point Sam withdrew his charges and Ald. Civill dismissed the case without costs. As the midjet and the strong man shook hands Pussy remarked:

"Sam, you gotta learn to keep your muscles in your pockets."

DELEGATIONS BEFORE RAILROAD COMMISSION

Hearings are in progress to-day in Austin before the Texas Railroad Commission regarding application of the Texas and New Orleans Railroad to discontinue passenger train service over the line from Waco to Yoakum.

Cameron has a delegation at the hearing and practically every town along the line is protesting the application.

If passenger train service is discontinued some of the towns, notably Rosebud, Lott and Chilton north will have no passenger train service at all since they are served by only the T & N O.

Interested business men of Yoakum last week instituted a move to employ counsel and succeeded and the delegations will be represented at the hearing by legal advice. It was believed in case the Commission grants the application to discontinue train service than an appeal will be taken.

DRIVE LAGS ALTHOUGH QUOTA INSIGNIFICANT

"Where are the Red Cross solicitors?" asked a business man Tuesday.

The answer is not known.

The people generally want to do their share in the current drive for Red Cross Funds. Through years of training and especially remembering the war years, the business men respectfully wait for the committees.

If the current soliciting campaign was organized and committees set up as has been the case for years, it would be only natural to expect that business houses would be canvassed for their subscriptions. Where then are the solicitors? Many have not had an opportunity to give.

Although the county quota is insignificant the drive still lags and Cameron with some $2400 to raise was far behind.

It is no secret that such a method of handling subscription drives reflects upon the city and county. True, men and women are busy, but why take a committee assignment if they do not intend to work?

Let's get on with the business in hand. Let's clean up this thing now and get ready for the next thing. We are certain to have many of them in the immediate months ahead. Might as well get in good practice.

Mrs. Martin Ruby and daughter Dorothy of Waco visited Mrs. C. H. Ruby Sunday.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 28.

The Golden Text is: "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the victory, and the glory, and the majesty, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all" (1 Chronicles 29:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thy throne is established of old: thou art from everlasting" (Psalms 93:2).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The realm of the real is Spirit. The unlikeliness of Spirit is matter, and the opposite of the real is not divine,—it is a human concept" (page 277).

BOYCOTT OF NATIONAL PARTY IS UNDERTAKEN

Bob Calvert, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, said that a letter was being sent out to executive committeemen Friday night suggesting that Texas Democrats do not hold the annual Jefferson day dinner to raise funds for the national organization.

"Instead, a Texas dinner would be held to raise funds for the state organization," Calvert stated.

Earlier Friday, Gov. Beauford H. Jester had proposed a Texas Democratic war chest to pay for a fight against the national party's domestic program.

In his letter, Calvert suggests to the executive committeemen that a committee be appointed to work out details of the Texas dinner.

Composed of himself, Mrs. R. A. Thompson of Goliad, vice-chairman of the state executive committee; Jimmy Brinkley of Houston, president of Texas Young Democrats; Arthur Stevenson of Dallas, president of the state Democratic chairmen's association and Neville Penrose of Fort Worth, finance chairman of the state Democratic executive committee.

The state war chest proposal was decided at a hush-hush meeting of key party leaders in Austin Thursday. Jester then went to Dallas to attend a traffic safety conference, and made the announcement there.

Others who attended the secret meeting had avowed it was "routine."

Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Hughes and two children of A&M, Bryan, were Sunday guests of her mother, Mrs. Annie Reese. She also visited Mrs. Gus Plentl, who is a patient in Scott and White Hospital in Temple. Mrs. Plentl underwent an operation there Monday.

Dual-view Home

A spacious living room that commands a view both front and rear is a desirable feature in this home. The full basement has a large recreation room space, well planned utilities and storage. The house comprises 1170 square feet, excluding garage.

Dwelling shown above is a photograph of a scale model of a "cut-out" home which can be obtained from House Beautiful Magazine for $2.00. The model is easily assembled, and gives the prospective home builder an actual model of the home he plans to build, complete with "cut-out" furniture.

By studying the scale model, the prospective builder is enabled to determine what changes he deems necessary before the house is actually built, thereby saving needless expense.

CONGRESS CONSIDERS NATION THREATENED

A quick draft law and compulsory military training were said to be certain early Tuesday as conferences between Congressional and military leaders progressed in the capital.

On Monday Secretary of State Marshall and Defense Secretary Forrestal conferred at length with the Senate Committee on armed services. It was said that the committee majority is now convinced war is inevitable if present trends continue and they are for immediate reinstitution of the draft law.

The talks were top secrets, however it was known that the committee listened to ranking authorities, one of whom was former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts who said America fell for a Russian trick when demobilization set in too quickly after the late war.

In those days "get the boys home" was on the lips of every politician in the country. The people should know that the military authorities were right then and are right now.

Unfortunately the security of the country is in the hands of Congressmen. With Freedom imperiled the immediate draft was said an emergency and military training necessary to survive the religion of Bolshevism.

Vicar Calls for Funds To Restore Church Bell

NEWINGTON, ENGLAND.—Rev. A. H. Lance, vicar of Newington, defied the devil and called for funds to rebuild the belfry of his 800-year-old church and get its bells ringing again.

Traditionally, the devil hates the bells of Newington. According to legend, he once visited the parish and was so disturbed by the bells that he climbed the belfry, put the bells in a sack and jumped down.

He landed on a rock which to this day bears distinct hoofprints, the legend says, and departing left a sulphurous curse to the effect that if anyone moved that stone no bells ever would ring in Newington church again.

During the war, the church road was widened and the stone was moved to a churchyard. About the same time, the church tower fell into such a bad state that ringing of the bells was forbidden.

Now the vicar, who was a chaplain with the royal air force during the war, is canvassing Newington's 1,200 inhabitants for money to rebuild the belfry.

School Roof Falls; Pupils Saved by an Alert Teacher

MIDVALE, UTAH.—The roof of West Jordan junior high school collapsed less than five minutes after a teacher had noticed it sagging and sounded a fire alarm.

Nearly 400 students marched to safety and were standing in the school yard when the roof fell. None was hurt.

Sixty-five students were in the school auditorium for a music class when the teacher, Lowell Hicks, heard a "cracking noise" and ordered them outdoors in the belief that an earthquake was beginning.

Naturalist Takes Stroll And Finds Unusual Friend

DOYLESTOWN, PA.—Naturalist George MacReynolds took a stroll to view the wonders of nature and had the thrill of his 88-year lifetime.

A spike-buck deer popped up beside him and stepped up boldly to nibble at a piece of candy in his outstretched hand.

Deer and naturalist walked leisurely back toward town as motorists stopped to watch in amazement. MacReynolds had to hide in the bushes to lose his friend.

Clarkson Club

The Clarkson H. D. Club met Wednesday, March 17 at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Tim Mitchell with ten members present.

The house was called to order by the president, Mrs. Tim Mitchell. There was a rather lengthy business session in which all records and old business was brought up-to-date. Each member voiced her regrets at losing our agent. However we all wish her good luck with her new work.

Our program was on "Trays" and was directed by Mrs. John Matyastik. A kitchen which is more convenient, more attractive, and one in which we are able to do a maximum of work with a minimum of effort is one of the goals for this year. How to use trays and save many steps was discussed and an attractive plywood tray was shown and it was demonstrated how it was made step by step.

For recreation, Mrs. Emil Skupin won the prize for writing the most words from "Easter Rabbit". The hostess served ice cream and cookies.

Miss Tabbie Robinson who has been an operative patient in St. Edwards Hospital, is much improved and has been taken to her room, and is doing nicely.

HUDSON CAR DELIVERY IS BEING INCREASED

Factory shipments of new Hudsons which have been increasing steadily since the start of production in October, rose to a new high during February, when the company shipped a total of 11,852 cars, it was announced by Horstmann Bros., local dealers.

This sets a new postwar record for Hudson and directly reflects the company's accelerated production rate, he explained.

Despite the stepped-up flow of cars to the field, the big sales department problem continues to be one of trying to keep distributors and dealers happy with the number of cars allotted to them, Hudson Motor Co., points out.

When factory sales representatives aren't being buttonholed in person by Hudson distributors and dealers pleading for more automobiles, they are being bombarded by letters, telegrams and telephone calls all demanding the same thing.

"To keep everybody happy in a situation like this is an impossibility," said N. K. Van Dergel, sales manager.

The increased distributor-dealer pressure for more cars is viewed by VanDergel as resulting directly from the great public interest in the recently-introduced new Hudson. With more and more of these low-silhouette cars being seen on the street, interest in their unusual design and construction continues to mount, he said. The result, he explained, has been the greatest showroom traffic in Hudson dealer history—and a hue and cry for more cars that surpasses anything the company has ever experienced.

JUST IN CASE SEEMS TO BE MILITARY IDEA

WASHINGTON, March 18—The Administration's preparedness drive gathered momentum today as top military spokesmen called for an increase in the Army, Navy, and Air Forces above their present authorized strength of 1,700,000 men.

Defense Secretary James Forrestal and Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall told the Senate Armed Services Committee the temporary draft and universal military training legislation asked by President Truman is essential as "insurance" in case of war.

They dismissed as "propaganda" reports of Russian demobilization and warned that America's existing military strength, particularly in the ground forces, would be "inadequate" for war with the Soviet Union.

The officials, whose draft and UMT pleas got a rather cool reception from some Senators, weren't ready to say how high they thought the new manpower ceiling should be. They said formal recommendations would be submitted to Congress after the Armed Forces complete detailed studies of the question.

75 Rats Killed In One Business House; Proofing Job Rushed

Rat proofing was emphasized forcibly here to-day when Dan Gunn city representative in the proofing work, displayed 75 rats taken last night in one business establishment.

It was noted also that in this place several hundred dollars worth of damage was discovered.

Co-operation generally was good. When buildings have been proofed this threat to health will be removed and property damage reduced to a minimum.

WATER SYSTEM LOANS AVAILABLE TO FARMS

Water Facilities loans of the Farmers Home Administration are available to farmers of Milam County for the purpose of constructing, installing, or repairing water systems, according to Roy Wright, County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration.

The Water Facilities program of the Farmers Home Administration is an attempt to cure one of the ills of American Agriculture. Mr. Wright pointed out that a farm family of five with a fair amount of livestock uses about 300 tons of water in a year if they have to do the pumping and carrying by hand. If the same family had an electric pump they would without sweat and toil use more than twice as much water. This plentiful supply of running water would, in turn show up in more pleasant living, healthier livestock, and increased milk and egg production. Seventy-five per cent of the farm homes of the country are still without running water.

Farmers who are interested in providing facilities for an adequate water supply and who cannot obtain loans from other sources, may call at the Farmers Home Administration office at 103 N. Central Street, Cameron, Texas, and make application for this service.

MRS. LUCY G. MANGUM DIED LATE WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Lucy Grantham Mangum of Cameron died at 10:32 p. m. Wednesday, March 17 in St. Edwards Hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. Mangum was a native of Milam county and had lived here all her life. She had been a member of the Baptist church here for 60 years and was the widow of the late George S. Mangum, pioneer.

The family is one of the oldest in the history of the city. Surviving are two sons and two daughters as follows: John E. Mangum of San Antonio, at one time prominent with the Robert McLane Company here; Wiley P. Mangum of Austin, also with the McLane Company for years; Mrs. George T. Graves of Cameron and Mrs. Norman Kittridge of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Six grand children also survive.

Pallbearers will be John B. Henderson, Chas. M. Hicks, W. F. Arthur, Wells Smith, Drayton McLane and Franklin Dusek.

One brother Frank P. Grantham survives and resides in Brownwood, Texas.

Funeral services will be held from First Baptist Church at 10 a. m. Friday, March 19 with the pastor, Rev. L. L. Morris, officiating and the Marek-Burns Funeral Home directing arrangements. Interment in Oak Hill Cemetery.

The body will be at the Marek-Burns Funeral Home until the funeral hour Friday morning.

DEMONSTRATIONS WILL BE HELD OVER COUNTY

In order to prove that hybrid corn will outyield native open-pollinated varieties of corn, 50 Milam County 4-H boys will conduct hybrid corn demonstrations this year, states J. W. Stufflebeme, Jr., County Agent. This program, sponsored by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce and hybrid seed corn breeders, has been carried out in this county since 1941.

Each demonstrator will be given enough seed corn to plant two acres, which will be next to native corn so that an accurate check in yields can be made. A county-wide show will be held in Cameron next fall, and prizes awarded for best exhibits and highest yields.

In stressing the importance of hybrid seed corn to farmers, it is pointed out that adapted hybrids have consistently outyielded native varieties by from 20 to 30 percent. The average yield of corn in Milam County is approximately 900,000 bushels. If all of the corn acreage was planted to hybrids, this would mean an increase of 180,000 bushels over the present production.

These corn demonstrations will be conducted in the Sharpe, Buckholts, Gause, Yarrellton, Marak, Ben Arnold, Vogelsang, Clarkson, and Maysfield communities.

Mr. and Mrs. William King and daughter of Ennis are spending a few days in Buckholts with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gresak and other friends and relatives.

OUR TOWN—

to re-elect Sam Jones governor over Earl K. Long. The New Orleans Item, also an afternoon paper is an independent but supporting Jones also. Racing Form is sold on the streets here as any other paper. It is, odd enough, published in Houston. One sees very few Texas papers here. Early to-day I went to the Roosevelt barber shop and Pierre, the barber, told me that Earl Long will be elected. It will be interesting to see how astute is Pierre at politics.

The New Orleans Mardi Gras, perhaps the most celebrated of carnivals in the world to-day, was first organized in 1837 over 110 years ago. In those days they were mere street processions compared with the brilliant and costly affairs to-day when a single costume costs as much as $3500. The Mardi Gras is a year long matter of planning and they have already set to work on the 1949 carnival.

The Carnival is of religious origin and widely patronized in Roman Catholic countries. The celebration spectacle was originated in Rome and Paris got her celebration pattern from the Italian city and New Orleans instituted the Mardi Gras on ideas brought over from Paris. The carnival season merging with Lent and Pre-Easter activities features some 26 outstanding Balls each vieing for magnificence and splendor. In the old days the Creoles made the Carnival an exclusive festival, the plebeians on the sidelines or drinking stale beer in the taverns. The champagne flavor of high society finally, however, seeped down and now the whole city with its multitude of clubs and organizations are a part and parcel of the Mardi Gras, even the negroes have their day and their splendor.

Canal Street, long since one of the most famous thoroughfares in the world, is some 5 miles or more long, its center paved with marble. There are four street car lines on canal street and just about everything in the way of interest and direction has to do with this magnificent esplanade, once a canal through which river ships passed in the early commerce of the thriving French village.

I was up very early this morning. I wanted to see the city before the people swarm out to spoil the 'Vieux Carre'. In the first gray light of the dawn I set out from the hotel to explore the wonders of a great city best seen before it awakens to the mad business of dollars. The streets are narrow canyons, grim and old, twisting away toward the waterfront. In this first view of the sprawling districts that make up the heart of down town New Orleans I was not disappointed, yet little did I realize what lay ahead in the next three days of our visit here.

When they tell you New Orleans is the most interesting city in America you don't argue about it. The evidence is so overwhelming you simply accept everything the tourist sharp guides say and revel on in the splendor of the ages that have etched this old town with the flattery of a canvas not of oils but colors that come with time.

The bars are the first to open and down here where nothing has changed, you feel akin to the spirit that inspired Jack London to write about the boisterous waterfront at Oakland. The beaten men with watery eyes and trembling hands lay a quarter down on the bar and get their morning lift, or if fortune has been less kind to the tin cup they can always beg a slug of rye. Even the free lunch is still here. Somehow through the years the saloon has been the one place where that jotsom of the human flotilla of earth, the men who don't fit in, can drop anchor. This is a long way from the gilded cocktail bar at the hotel where the snobs succumb before a Bandana from Havana. I don't go in but I don't blame those who do. Somehow as I see the brace back and the quick flick of the wrist and forearm reflected in the shiny mahogany I believe this is the best way to drink. It's the belly kind and you get quick results. It hits your toes and on the return gathers volume.

Down the street I hear the clomp of horse shoes on the pavement and it's been a long time since I saw a beer wagon roll by, but here it is, grey horses with brass harness, wooden kegs and a fat man with a white apron. Where else on earth could you find it except in New Orleans. It has been a bracing walk and the coffee smells good. The fog is coming in from the river and the lowlands so I make it back to the hotel in good time. The Roosevelt dining room and coffee shop is rapidly becoming as famous as some of the more celebrated eating places. We recommend it. More to-morrow.

Union Labor has made little progress in New Orleans despite its shipping and industrial interests. As a rule workers are underpaid, especially those who do the menial jobs and those who work at the trades. I was told here that a recent attempt to organize the cab drivers had failed.

One could hardly find a city more caste conscious despite the delightful cosmopolitan atmosphere of the rank and file of people who man the jobs of making this city click. Hovering in the background is entrenched wealth. Class distinction once deep rooted from the regal days of French and Italian rule, has been blended somewhat by the gradual encroachment of the Western impact. Cloistered still is the soul of a great city with its traditions. Perhaps no city in the world is more tourist minded and New Orleans does a fine job at entertaining.

Almost every type of entertainment is to be had. Bus tours daily from all the principal hotels bring the city's points of interest to you within a matter of hours. We enjoyed an afternoon at the races. The paramutual system supports one of the finest tracks in the United States and seeing the thoroughbreds run for their oats is something every Texan relishes.

New Orleans after dark is both glamorous and exciting. No other city in America weaves such a spell about its night life, gay, amusing, exotic and different. For those who wish there is a special tour, both safe and informal for ladies and gentlemen, no children, around the night spots. You can see the popular clubs in widely separated and outlying sections, Gay Night Clubs and French Quarter Resorts. There is the old Cabaret section, famed in song and story where one rubs elbows with every stratum of society. You end this tour in the traditional New Orleans way with coffee and doughnuts at a quaint stand in the famous Old French Market erected in 1813.

Being on the conservative side of exotic excitement we prefer the deeper centers of historic interest and we browse for hours along the enchanted streets. One of the more intriguing thoroughfares is Royal Street where the Antique shops are located, perhaps the finest in the world. The wares are enormous as they are versatile and the prices are even more so. From the old plantation homes, from Europe and far places of earth the enterprising collector has brought great distinction to this old city.

The waterfront along the Mississippi is both colorful and historic. Long since awakening to modern commerce one sees almost every type of ship from the luxury liner to the scow and despite time the old river junks and flat boats that intrigued Abe Lincoln still ply the waters of the great river.

It was a never to be forgotten experience to walk up to the levy and look over the broad expanse of the river almost 2 miles wide here in a great crescent about the old city. One can imagine the thrill experienced by De Soto who made the discovery. To-morrow some places of historic interest.

This from Master Sergeant Andrew J. Moore in the Quartermaster Corps of the Army at Portland, Oregon. He says "I have been having a hard time trying to convince these Oregon people that Texas won the war. This article helps back me up." He encloses a column written by Robert C. Ruark from Houston as follows:

Today I am a Texan, podner. I'm a roper and a fighter and a wild horse rider, and a right fair windmill hand. I got cattle in the bank and oil in the ground and my hat is wider and whiter than any little old hat you ever did see.

Yessir, amigo, we got the biggest old state and the prettiest little girls and the brightest old rain you ever saw, even our Lone Star monument is taller than the one in Washington, if you count the base. It's got to be taller than the one in Washington, because after all, the union joined us. We didn't need the union. Never did.

The State of Texas is bounded by the United States, an insignificant colony we saved from defeat in the last war. We could have won it sooner if we hadn't a-been all dragged down with the other 47 states. What with Overta running the Wacs and Nimitz running the navy and the whole air force working out of our state, it's a wonder we didn't sue for a separate peace. Why, we got Jesse Jones and Amon Carter and George Kelley and Sammy Baugh and Pappy O'Daniel and H. R. Cullen and Glen McCarthy and the Big King ranch. We got the Gulf of Mexico and the Rio Grande and the ship channel all the way up from Galveston, and Ann Sheridan. We got the oil and the ships and the grass and the meat, and the grapefruits and the watermelons and the wheat and the cotton. Boy what we ain't got we don't need.

We still got the Texas navy, just in case we ever want it handy, and we got the Texas Rangers. We got spurs that jingle jangle jingle and we wear picktoed boots and five-gallon hats with our store clothes. Every body's rich in Texas. Shoot the other three million.

It won't take any talent to get rich in Texas, podner. You just bore a little old hole in the ground, and the oil spurts up, and then all you have to do is go buy a diamond ring and a pair of hand-tooled boots and six or eight Cadillacs and then wait for some more oil to come shooting up out of the hole.

Or else you ketch an old cowbrute and throw her down and carve your initials on her flank, and bymeby you got a heard and everybody knows about the price of rump roast. Git along, little doggie, and come home to papa with a million dollars tied to your tail.

Well, the music is louder and the streets are wider and the sunsets are prettier and the moon is bigger and the race horses run faster. The bird dogs are smarter and the fish bite better and, son, when we have an explosion it is the biggest, loudest explosion in the world. I mean Texas City.

Our clover is knee-high to a tall steer, the alfalfa is collar-bone high to a tall giraffe, and the crap games are high as the sky. Even our sky is higher than other people's sky. It's just Texas.

New Orleans Jackson Square in New Orleans is perhaps the best known landmark in this historic city. Certainly the equestrian statue of Andrew Jackson is the most publicised monument in the world. The square from which radiates more of historic interest than any section of New Orleans was laid out by the Frenchman Bienville, the founder of the city, in 1720. It has been the scene of many historic events and a civic center for 200 years. It was originally known as the Place d'Armes where the French trained raw recruits for their colonial army.

It is interesting to note that in this historic square was noted the arrival of the "Casque" girls in 1727 and here the Acadians from Nova Scotia were received in 1755. In this historic square dominated by Clark Mills' statue of Old Hickory Louisiana was officially transferred from France to Spain in 1769 and here also is the spot where Jackson was welcomed after his smashing victory over the British at Chalmette where the General Pankinham died of wounds. The transfer of Louisiana from France to the United States occurred here in 1803. The square was laid out and planted to flowers in 1856 by the Baroness of Pontalba who also built the first apartment houses in the Mississippi valley. They are just off the square, one on the east the other west and are owned by the city of New Orleans and the state of Louisiana. Here no historic building is torn down. The city or the state steps in and buys it.

The statue of Andrew Jackson, friend of Sam Houston, was set up in 1856 at a cost of $30,000. The artist has been widely praised for the skill with which he poised the figures, which weigh 20 thousand pounds and have stood with perfect balance with no support or prop beneath for almost a century.

Two buildings stand out as important in the early history of New Orleans, both across the street from Jackson square, although the old French Market is perhaps the best known. The St. Louis Cathedral completed in 1727 we are told is the oldest church in North America save the Catholic church in Santa Fe, New Mexico. This cathedral was completed in 1727 and tradition says that Bienville, when he planned the city, traced on the ground with his sword the spot designated for the erection of the parish church. This church was destroyed in the great fire of 1788 and Roxas the wealthy Spanish nobleman provided funds for its reconstruction and it was completed again in 1794. The body of Roxas lies beneath the large marble slab in front of the Altar. The only request he made was that he be buried inside the church and that a prayer be said each Saturday for the repose of his soul.

The Cabildo where is now housed the Louisiana State Meuseum is the most popularly visited place in the city outside Jackson square. This old building, the oldest in the city among non-religious structures, was a prison at one time and here we see the cells where the pirates were kept. This building was also erected by Roxas and was used for the legislature of the Spanish province. Oddly enough the first Protestant religious services held in Louisiana were conducted in a room on the second floor.

The meuseum has many works of art. Here I saw also the death mask of Napoleon in bronze, made by Bonaparte's physician, Antommarchi, who, himself, pressed the matrix to the emperor's death face and later presented it to the city of New Orleans. Perhaps the most famous canvas here is that of Lami, "The Battle of New Orleans." There is a Confederate Meuseum and here we saw the catafalque on which rested the body of Jefferson Davis as it was drawn through the streets of the city during the funeral services for the Confederate President. The body of Davis was later removed to Richmond, Virginia. He died in New Orleans in 1889 and in 1893 the body was taken to the capital at Richmond. On a tour of the city we saw the house in which Davis died. More to-morrow.

CAN BEGIN CALLING UP MEN WITHIN 2 WEEKS

AUSTIN, March 17—Texas could start registering men under selective service within two weeks after receiving orders from Washington, State Adj. Gen. K. L. Berry said today.

Berry praised Pres. Truman's speech, declaring the President had shown courage and leadership in forcefully presenting a matter unpopular with the public.

"The only immediate effect his speech will have on the Texas National Guard will be to increase voluntary enlistment of men subject to either universal military training or selective service," the adjutant general predicted.

Members of the National Guard are exempt from registration and service under selective service, according to the proposed law, Berry said.

The National Guard will put special emphasis on recruiting in preparation for either a UMT or selective law, or both, he added.

Berry said Texas has 351 local draft boards, 326 of which are complete as regards membership now. He reported 400 doctors and dentists are ready to serve as medical examiners.

They Were Married 50 Years Ago

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR H. BASKIN

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Baskin celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary here on Wednesday, February 25. It was on this same date in 1898 that they were married in Cameron.

The wedding celebration was heightened by the presence of their children. The reunion was held in the same home in which Mr. and Mrs. Baskin were married and now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Baskin, Jr.

She wore a corsage of golden talisman rosebuds and Mr. Baskin wore a boutonniere of the same flower.

Talisman roses, daffodils were the principal flowers used in the decorations. The wedding cake was decorated in white and gold. The cake was topped by a miniature bride and groom in bronze.

On the table was an imported lace cloth. Sandwiches and sweets were served with the wedding cake and

GUARDSMEN EXEMPT FROM ARMY DRAFT

Young men who join the National Guard will be exempt from both the proposed draft and Universal Military Training.

That was announced by Captain Rudolph Michalka, Commanding Officer of Battery C, 239th Field Artillery Battalion here, following receipt of a statement from Major General K. L. Berry, the Adjutant General in Austin. Major General Berry made his statement after President Truman last Wednesday asked Congress to enact Selective Service and UMT legislation.

The Adjutant General said in part: "Without elaboration let me quickly name four reasons why men 17 to 35 should speedily join the National Guard:

1. Members of the National Guard will be exempt from service (not registration) under Universal Military Training, as the law is now written.

2. Members of the National Guard will be exempt from registration and service under Selective Service, according to the proposed law."

Longevity and retirement pay benefits were the other two reasons mentioned.

Capt. Michalka stated he would like to point out some other advantages. He said:

"A young man in the National Guard trains in his own home community with his friends or acquaintances—not in a distant camp among strangers. The drill period is for only 2 hours one night each week—so doesn't interfere with his daytime job or school attendance. The pay is from $2.50 to $5.50 for each drill period, depending on rank. There are many opportunities for promotion and to attend the Regular Army's various technical schools, OCS and West Point.

Anyone interested should contact Capt. Michalka at the Cameron Machine Shop during business hours or at the armory in the Old Grammar School building on West Third Street on Tuesday evenings.

CARD OF THANKS

We are grateful to our friends for this kindness to us during the death of our dear husband and father, David O'Neal. To those who gave flowers, sent messages or in any way helped us in our hour of sorrow, we shall always be grateful.

Mrs. Viola Neal and Family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ford of Yarellton visited in Cameron Saturday.

Agricultural Extension Start

The agricultural extension service in its present form officially came into being in 1914. In that year congress passed and Pres. Woodrow Wilson signed the Smith-Lever act which set up the extension service. The start of the teaching and work which has grown into the present extension system took place about the time the American republic was being born. In 1785 the Philadelphia society was organized to aid agriculture and spread information of interest and value to farm families. Similar movements continued through all the phases of national growth. Farmers' institutes were started and had become well established by 1899, with many states providing money for them. These institutes tried to bring to farmers at meetings the results of experimental work in agriculture and home economics. From these institutes grew the Boys' Corn clubs, which later became the 4-H clubs.

Water-Borne Commerce

Water-borne commerce on the Great Lakes and their connecting channels is greater than on any other inland waterway. It is conducted with large vessels, comparable in size to those in ocean service, and in many cases specially designed for the movement performed. By far the major portion of Great Lakes traffic consists of bulk movements of iron ore, coal and coke, fluxing stone, petroleum and products, and grain. These commodities aggregate close to seven-eighths of the total, the rest consisting of sand and gravel, iron and steel, and miscellaneous freight. Under stimulus of the war, domestic commerce on the lakes in 1944 approximated 180 million tons. Packaged freight on the Great Lakes amounts to less than 2 per cent of the total domestic freight movement on the lakes.

Undersea Mountains

Man is making progress in his quest for information about the mountain ranges, peaks and valleys hidden under the oceans, says National Geographic society. On the heels of an expedition to the Mid-Atlantic ridge comes word that coast and geodetic survey scientists have chartered a volcanic range under Bering sea waters and an 11,500 foot peak rising from the deep floor of the north Pacific ocean. Although numerous submarine mountains and mountain ranges are known to exist, details of their shape and structure have remained vague.

Retail Markets built by advertising

Don't WISH for Business
CREATE IT

Retail markets are built by advertising as much as any other factor. Wherever merchants are located in trade centers they build or they neglect, depending on the volume of Advertising Effort.

Cameron needs local advertising volume profitably and intelligently placed in NEWSPAPERS. There is no substitute.

Don't WISH for business, CREATE it.

JEW'S ANGERED OVER SUDDEN POLICY SHIFT

Washington was in a dither Saturday over the about face in the nation's policy over Palestine.

The United States has abandoned its stand on partition of the Holy Lands and instead has suggested a commission be set up to supervise the country pending the expiration of the troubles now besetting the Jews and Arabs.

The Jews were greatly disturbed over the sudden change in foreign policy and war was the stark prospect for the Holy Lands on a large scale.

In London the British government reiterated its intention to get out of Palestine.

The United States had previously agreed to carry out the mandate of the United Nations Security Council and the new policy was taken to indicate that Russia was being further defied since that country is for the partition.

Robert Mitchum and Jane Greer Star In "Out Of The Past"

Revolving around the case of a detective whose past shady career leads him into a dramatic chain of consequences, RKO Radio's "Out of the Past" co-stars Robert Mitchum and Jane Greer at the head of a notable cast.

Jeff Markham is sent by gambler Whit Sterling to bring back the latter's girl friend, Kathie, who ran off with a big chunk of money. Jeff finds her in Mexico, but falling for her charm, double crosses Whit and takes her to San Francisco. Jeff's former partner, Jack Fisher, locates them, but Kathie kills him, and flees. Jeff learns later that she has returned to Whit.

Changing his name, Jeff settles down to run a gas station in a little town, where he falls in love with pretty Ann Miller and plans a normal life for himself. But Whit's gunman, Stefanos, discovers Jeff's whereabouts, and Jeff is forced to see Whit, who tells him that he'll forgive him if he will get some incriminating papers for him from a lawyer named Eels. The ex-sleuth knows he has been framed when Eels is murdered, with circumstantial evidence pointing to himself.

Desperately, Jeff makes a deal with Whit to clear him so he can return to his business and Ann. But Kathie, fearing she'll be implicated, kills Whit and compels Jeff to run off with her. Realizing he can never escape now, Jeff deliberately leads Kathie into a police trap, and both of them lose their lives as Kathie tries to shoot her way out.

Mitchum has a memorable role as the lickless Jeff, and Miss Greer scores impressively as the lovely but sinister Kathie. Featured are Kirk Douglas as Whit, Rhonda Fleming as a two-timing secretary, and Richard Webb, Steve Brodie and Virginia Huston.

Jacques Tourneur directed the production by Warren Duff. Geoffrey Homes wrote the screenplay from his own novel, Build My Gallows High.

The film comes to Cameron Thea-
